

Chain of Responsibility (CoR) legislation extends the general liability for offences to road freight consignors, receivers, packers and loaders. Rather than pursue the 'soft target' on the roadside, truck drivers and operators, authorities can investigate along the supply chain and up and down the corporate chain of command. The days of 'all care and no responsibility' are

TLIF0001 APPLY CHAIN OF RESPONSIBILITY LEGISLATION, REGULATIONS AND WORKPLACE PROCEDURES (CoR LEVEL 1)

The CoR Level 1 Course is nationally recognised training as outlined in the Unit of Competency TLIF0001. It teaches the skills and knowledge required to identify, apply and follow CoR Regulations relevant to your job role.

WHO SHOULD COMPLETE THIS COURSE?

CoR legislation extends responsibilities to anyone whose actions, inactions or demands can put driver's lives or other lives at risk. Any party who has control in the transport chain can be held responsible and may be legally liable. If you are a transport operator, scheduler, loading manager, packer, loader, driver, consignor or consignee, you should complete this course.

WHAT ARE THE COURSE OBJECTIVES?

- Explain the Chain of Responsibility legislation.
- Explain the importance of safe load restraint, appropriate load mass and dimension, and prevention of driver fatigue and speeding.
- Identify key responsibilities, requirements and actions for load restraint, load mass and dimension, driver fatigue and driver speeding.
- Take action if you observe a potential or actual breach of the Chain of Responsibility.

WHAT DOES THE COURSE INVOLVE?

This course is delivered either online or face-to-face. It includes 6 short modules and 5 assessments that are a combination of online and workplace-based (knowledge, short answer, verbal, observation report and practical). It will take approximately 4-6 hours to complete the course and assessments (observations are required to take place over a period of 1-2 weeks prior to completing and submitting observation report).

WHAT MAKES THIS COURSE DIFFERENT?

This course provides an interactive and engaging way for you to build your knowledge and understanding of the Chain of Responsibility and what it means for you. As an online course it provides flexibility, convenience, consistency and efficiency at a competitive price.
